Relief for Doctors in Bombed Areas

SIR,—In two recent numbers of the Journal it has been suggested in the correspondence columns that rural medical officers attached to the first-aid posts should volunteer to relieve medical officers in the big towns who have been "up the line" continuously since August 11. Provided the M.O. I relieve could come down here and take over my practice for a fortnight, I would willingly volunteer to relieve him. He must be able to do midwifery! I can come any time between the end of November and Christmas.—I am, etc.,

Bourne, Lincs, Oct. 17. J. A. GALLETLY.

An E.M.S. Contract

SIR,—To-day I received an offer of employment from the Ministry of Health and am required to sign a contract which contains the following clause: "An officer is under an obligation to serve during the duration of the emergency or for such shorter period as his services may be required. Subject to approved service, however, a minimum period of service dating from the date of joining for duty to November 30, 1940, is guaranteed unless air hostilities in the country terminate earlier."

I thought in my innocence, having been bombed out of my house, that we were fighting for freedom against the Nazis. I find, however, that it is Whitehall which has developed the serf mentality. This contract is infamous. In plain language it means that any officer joining the service is liable to instant discharge, but is bound body and soul to serve at the pleasure of the Minister. Could Hitlerism be more triumphant and the degradation of the medical profession more complete?—I am, etc.,

Oct. 20. GUY NEELY.

Dependants of E.M.S. Doctors

SIR,—Now that the Blitzkrieg is on I wish to raise again the unfortunate position of dependants of doctors in the E.M.S. who are fatally injured while on duty. The instructions recently issued to medical officers of mobile units are that they should report on every "raid." This, in my own case, having a scattered country practice, sometimes entails driving five miles amidst falling shrapnel and occasional bombs. Surely if any of us is as "unlucky" as some of our sorely tried London colleagues, our dependants ought to be treated at least equally with those of a lieutenant in the R.A.M.C.—I am, etc.,

Oct. 5. M.O. THAMES ESTUARY MOBILE UNIT.

Medical Calling Up

SIR,—In 1935 I joined the Territorial Army and in August, 1939, I was called up. Since the war started I have read with many misgivings of the difficulties of getting doctors to join up. This has apparently not been among the older men, many of whom I met called up with me, but among the younger ones, and especially among those who were beginning to follow the course that I took myself and take specialist qualifications. When the war came I shut the door of my consulting-room and "toed the line," and left what looked like a promising practice. Now when I lie perspiring on my camp bed I suffer from rather nasty qualms, for I see in the future that welcome that awaited so many of the volunteers of the last war when they returned—namely, the fate of finding that all I have worked for has been gradually taken away by these rather unpleasant young persons whose financial acumen is more pronounced than their willingness to help the country.

Rightly or wrongly, I have the impression, shared by others, that if and when these young men are persuaded to take part it will only be "in view of." We also have the impression that the first people to be demobilized will not be those volunteers and Territorials who went willingly and at once but those who were persuaded by the offers made them. Now do not be misled by the fact that people joined the Territorial Army into thinking that they did so because they wished to be a sort of soldier; we joined up because we thought that men were needed, that a lead was needed from what were the leading classes, and also because to us our families were worth fighting for. And I have no hesitation in saying that we all would do it again.—I am, etc.,
